Searching for a video of a particular subject in a video sharing website can be a daunting task. This is especially true if the video content is a tutorial, a how-to video, a multimedia presentation, etc. Existing techniques for searching the video sharing website are based on keywords. For example, keywords can be inserted into one or more fields of a video sharing webpage. Users may then enter keywords into a search box to search the video sharing website. However, keywords are not the only criteria for video searching. Accordingly, there is
